«No one has greater love
than this, to lay down one's life
for one's friends»

(Jn: 15, 13)

«The life of man searches, in the reality in which he lives, something bigger, something true, something beautiful and pure.

We search for true friendship, a great love, the Love of God. The Lord himself created us with a longing of communion, of friendship between us, of knowing how to love, to forgive, to always start again and to walk together. In finding a true friendship again with God, we will be able to "give our lives" for our friends»
